

Firecracker

Crassula capitella subsp. thyrsoiflora

- Words don't do me justice! I'm named after my pink-red, pointed leaves that look like fireworks.
- I'll light up the sky when I bloom tiny white flowers at the tops of my rosette chains, which can grow up to 10 inches long.
- I love soaking up bright sunlight and I need water every 7-10 days in the summertime (only when my soil is completely dry).
