STUDIO CITY, CA – February 1– Alexandra Turshen (“Partner Track,” “Red Oaks”), Matt Cohen (“General Hospital,” “Holiday Date”), Aaron O’Connell (“The Haves and the Have Nots”) and Ileana Douglas (Cape Fear) star in “Made For Each Other,” a new, original movie premiering Saturday, February 25 (8 p.m. ET/PT), on Hallmark Channel as part of the network’s annual Loveuary® programming event.

Rachel (Turshen), a sculptor, has always been a perfectionist – when it comes to her art and finding a partner. Her family keeps trying to set her up, but Rachel can always find flaws – she wants the perfect relationship. David (Cohen) is also unlucky in love. He left a lucrative career as a lawyer to pursue his passion for standup comedy, and love hasn’t been knocking on his door. Rachel’s neighbor and friend Doris (Douglas) tells Rachel about the legend of the Jewish Golem – and what was unintentionally mindless fun ends up magically bringing to life the life-sized sculpture of a man Rachel has been working on. Clay (O’Connell) is sweet, romantic and everything Rachel thinks she wants in a partner. Rachel brings Clay to her sister Ruth’s (Lindsay Nance, “Francesca Quinn, PI”) wedding, where she meets David – and sparks fly. David is disappointed to discover Rachel is dating such a perfect guy like Clay but ends up becoming friends with both Clay and Rachel. With David’s encouragement, Rachel submits her artwork to a contest and wins. With the upcoming art show Rachel now realizes she has feelings for both Clay and David, leaving Rachel to decide if perfection really is all it’s cracked up to be.

“Made For Each Other” is an Inferno Pictures Inc. Production. Joey Plager is executive producer and Ian Dimerman serves as producer. Lisa Cichelly is line producer. Jeff Beesley directed from a story written by Adi Blotman.
