

Greetings!

Hello from the North Pole!

It's that exciting time of year again when I send out my elves to all the special boys and girls. I am very busy and my elves help keep an eye on all the children. They report back to me so I can make my list of naughty and nice children!

Remember, your elf is here to observe (and have a little fun with you) this holiday season. Don't touch your elf and be sure to keep an eye out for him each day. I am sure he will find himself in some funny situations over the next few weeks. They're silly like that sometimes.

If you do as you are told and listen to your parents like good boys and girls your elf will be full of magic and fun. You don't want to find yourself on the naughty this list year so be sure to behave like good boys and girls.

I'll be seeing you soon, before you know it the big night will be here. I look forward to some delicious cookies and milk and some carrots for the reindeer!

*Kind Regards,
Santa Claus*
