Time: 8 AM – 10:00 AM

Where: Department of General Services,
707 Third Street, West Sacramento, CA 95605 – Zig Auditorium

The art and science of real-time change management and leadership.

Change Management and Change Leadership: This panel explores that the complexity of our global society requires a new order of thinking and being. How do we let go of the status quo and innovate to solve 21st century problems? How can we start from a blank canvas, but deploy processes that deliver results? How do we hold ourselves to higher standards of performance that assure we meet the needs of those served? How can we make continuous improvement a fundamental skill? How do we adapt and thrive in environments of constant change? How can we be bold in bringing others along with us? How can we transcend boundaries without fear to build an agile culture that can meet real time needs? How do we systemically unleash human potential to drive organizational potential?

OUR EXECUTIVE HOSTS – The Government Operations Agency joins our Executive Host Sponsor, the California Department of General Services to extend an invitation to leadership from all spectrums of government service alongside the progressive managers that have supported the participation of Cohort 2018 Trainees! Attendance is FREE, but REGISTRATION IS REQUIRED.

These panelists are government pioneers that demonstrate the raw power of innovation and the humility to recognize it takes all of us to change the world!
