Dear Parent,

You have chosen a child care provider who participates in the USDA Food program, sponsored by CocoKids. The focus of the Child Care Food Program is to provide children with the very best nutritional start in life.

Providers enrolled in the USDA Food Program receive:

- Training on USDA meal plan guidelines to provide nutritious meals to your child that include vegetables, fruit and whole grains
- Ongoing technical assistance and current information on nutrition, health and safety
- Visits at least three times a year by a Child Health and Nutrition Specialist to observe mealtimes

All children participating will be offered the same meals at no separate charge with no physical segregation or other discrimination because of race, color, national origin, age, gender, religion, disability, or political beliefs.

Studies have shown that participation in the Child Care Food Program is an indicator of a quality child care program. With childhood obesity being the number one health issue for many of our children, choosing a provider that participates in the Child Care Food Program is one way to help your child develop healthy lifelong, eating habits.

Please visit our Website www.cocokids.org for recipes, menus, our monthly Nutrition Edition newsletter and other topics of interest. If you have questions regarding your child's nutrition, health or safety, our Child Health and Nutrition Specialists are available. Feel free to call us at (925) 676-6117 with any concerns.

In the interest of children,
