

 Resources for Your Visiting Family
Support. Just When You Need It.

“When my parents came to visit, I didn’t know how they’d get by without my guidance. CONCERN’s Visiting Family Guide helped us with the things they needed.”

When your family comes for an extended visit, you’ll want to make sure they are happy, entertained and well cared for. Here in Silicon Valley, we are fortunate to have abundant multi-cultural resources, but it can be a challenge to research all the options available.

To help ensure that your family has an enjoyable stay, CONCERN has created comprehensive, practical, user-friendly guides to reliable resources throughout the Bay Area.

From community health centers to cultural arts and entertainment, to public transportation, our free Visiting Family Guides are your go-to resources for Chinese and South Asian visitors.

Your Visiting Family Guide has many helpful resources including:

Healthcare and Medical Insurance. Find information about culturally appropriate health resources, community health centers, and visitor insurance.

Entertainment and Community Resources. Our multicultural community embraces the traditions of South Asian and Chinese populations with a wide variety of offerings, including senior programs, day trips, arts and entertainment, spiritual centers, and more.

Transportation Services. Silicon Valley’s thoroughly networked public and private transportation system will get your family members just about anywhere. Choose from shuttles, buses, commuter rail and the rapid transit system.

Language Assistance. When English isn’t your first language, communication can be a challenge. Interpreter services and language classes are available.

More Great Tips. See our recommendations about fun places to explore with your family, cultural orientation, exercise and physical fitness, emotional well-being and community support.
