We are pleased to announce the plans for the 83rd Annual Convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Oklahoma!

This year because of the COVID-19 pandemic, the convention will be held virtually, presented in a webinar format. This one-day convention will feature many of the same events, starting with Holy Eucharist, where we will install the new Canon to the Ordinary, The Reverend Eric Cooter, and hear from our guest preacher, The Right Reverend Carlye J. Hughes, Bishop of Newark.

After Eucharist, we will conduct normal convention business before rounding out convention with the Bishop’s Address. For many of you, this will be the first time to hear from our newly elected and consecrated Bishop of Oklahoma, The Right Reverend Poulson Reed. Bishop Poulson will share his reflections and lay out his vision for the future of our Diocese.

There is no cost, to you, for convention this year!

Prior to convention, each Clergy and Delegate will be sent a registration link for convention. Please register as soon as you get this in your inbox. This registration will be your key to other materials and information regarding convention. Closer to convention, you will be sent another link to click, watch, and participate! Only Clergy and Delegates will have access to the webinar link. Alternates, Guests and Spouses will be asked to watch the convention on the Episcopal Diocese YouTube channel.

Clergy and Delegates are asked to have access to their own computer, laptop, tablet, or smartphone to participate in the virtual convention. You will be asked to vote via your device so your computer will be your voice and vote. Delegates cannot share devices as each device counts as one vote. If you are an elected delegate and will not have access to your own device, please ask to be replaced by one of your alternates. Due to the circumstances of this year’s virtual convention, there will be no exceptions to having your own device.

We know that these are unusual times and are very sad that we can’t all come together in the same space, but we are working very hard to move forward and stay connected through this presentation and hope to be together as one body again next year.
