UPDATE TO THE MEMBERSHIP REGARDING THE CORONAVIRUS (COVID-19)

March 18, 2020

The Greater Community Church is closely monitoring the updates of the COVID-19 virus, and we are dedicated and committed to protecting our congregation’s members. We have a number of older members who are particularly vulnerable to this virus. We are and will be guided by best medical advice and CDC guidance and best practice. The protection and health of all of our members is our primary goal, and not unlike all other organizations, businesses, and churches, we are not exempt from the damaging effects of this virus.

In that regard and not surprisingly, the church has been made aware of some of our members who have been or may have been affected by this virus. We, therefore, out of an abundance of caution, feel that it is more than prudent to notify you of this circumstance. We are going to practice and implement the medically advised measures recommended to prevent the spread of this virus. In that regard, we are and will be making changes to our worship services, our meetings, and our communications with you. We will be issuing guidelines and measures to you as the situation changes, but safe to say it is in everyone’s best interest. Should anyone suspect that they may be experiencing any symptoms, we urge you to first contact your own healthcare provider for personal guidance.

If you are aware that you have been touched, or think you have, by this virus, we encourage you to notify the pastor that you personally have been, or possibly have been exposed in order to notify others of this. We will not be identifying any person who so notifies the pastor. As we have said, the protection of our congregation is our primary concern and we feel that making the congregation aware by notifying our members is only being prudent and is the right thing to do.

We will be adjusting our decisions concerning meeting, services, and all interactions between our members from time to time as necessary in accordance with the best medical and CDC guidelines to protect us all as we continue to navigate through this national and worldwide tragedy. This a fast-moving situation and is changing on a daily basis, with no assurances as how long this situation will be.

We are going to continue to pray and seek divine guidance to see us safely through this. May God bless and protect you all.

Stay in His face and journey well!
