Greeting in Christ's Friendship

Greetings in Christ's friendship sisters and brothers in Christ! In my verbal report at the Annual Meeting at the end of January, I named that a goal of mine these last six months as your Interim Rector has been to try to create safe spaces where difficult conversations can unfold in the light of God's grace. Know how very grateful I am for the way parishioners have invited me in, shared honestly and vulnerably with me.

I have aimed to nurture these settings of being open to the light of God's grace by speaking in sermons and in the Evangel about love and forgiveness, as well as the Biblical understanding of handling conflict. My prayer has been to cultivate safe and trustworthy relationships by keeping my word, maintaining confidentiality, and offering safety. My goal has been to nurture trust from everyday words to big commitments.

I have tried to encourage connectivity in Christ through prayer—through more intentional naming the prayers of our community weekly in the bulletin and E-ministry, and inviting parishioners to pray for one another in Christ's name. The meeting ground of prayer can be powerful!

Examples of specific settings and places that I have sought to live into this creation of safe spaces where difficult conversations can unfold in the light of God's grace are the many pastoral care and counseling sessions I have had with people who have sought me out, and in ongoing groups such as the Bible Study Groups on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings. The St. John's time line in the Parish Hall is another avenue of being open to the light of God's grace.

Another opportunity for connecting in Christ's in deeper ways has been through the contemplative questions on Sunday mornings for groups of people that gather spontaneously here and off site. The aim of these contemplative ontemplative questions has been a desire to ground our beings, our conversations, and our communities in Christ. In sharing these questions again here, I hope you will continue to find them helpful to engage with your brothers and sisters in Christ into deeper friendship in his name...

*How did Christ speak to you when you first came to St. John's?
When was that?*

What was it about the fellowship encountered here that made you realize this was to perhaps be a home?

Where has Jesus showed up in your life?

How has your life in Christ/your relationship with Jesus been strengthened at St. John's?

How do you listen for God's will and ways in your life?

*What is your favorite piece of scripture and book of the Bible?
How does it influence you?*

When do you feel close to God?

What causes you greater distress or concern, and how might Christ be a part of that?

What experiences did you have in the church growing up?

If you were going to a Bible party, and encouraged to dress up and be in role as a Bible character, who would it be?

Let me close in a playful way by addressing that last question and sharing a favorite photo of a little girl who was invited to her Sunday School class party at the beginning of a year with the suggestion to dress up like a favorite Bible character.

Yours in Christ....

I love your sanctuary, Lord. The place where your glorious presence dwells." (Psalm 26:8 NLT) Each time I walk through the courtyard of St. John's I am reminded of this passage from Psalm 26. The courtyard is a serene peaceful space where I experience the presence of God in the natural beauty of the trees, plants, birds and occasional squirrel. Walking through the courtyard gives an opportunity to pause, breathe, and say a word of thanks for the blessing that is the parish of St. John's Episcopal Church in Norman. Our church is not only a reverently beautiful physical place, at its heart are the people of St. John's - those saints who have passed and those who remain. I first attended St. John's during Lent in 2008. Not being raised in the Episcopal Church, the service was very different from what I was accustomed to. Yet, that didn't matter because I felt the presence of the Holy Spirit and the love that seemed to linger in the air. After one service I knew I'd found my church home. Throughout my time at St. John's I've felt an unchanging sense of belonging and acceptance. To me, that feels like God's glorious presence.. Wishing you peace and the light of Christ.

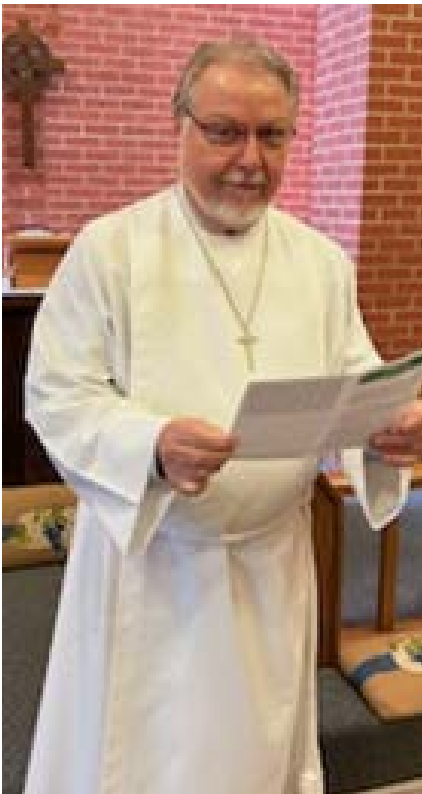

My favorite place at St. John's is the nave. The vibrant beauty of the stained glass lifts my spirit! St. John's is my spiritual home and the beauty of the nave is a very important part of my weekly renewal for the next week!

Pat Welch

I don't think I have a favorite spot at St. John's, but if I had to pick I think the chapel is right up there. This past year I spent a lot of time there and I led Morning Prayer nearly every Tuesday from February until into August. I got to know the regulars pretty well and I have great affection for them all.

Chuck Palm

I have been a member at St. John's for nearly 30 years. In that time, I have been part of discussion groups, helped with 12th Night, went on youth trips, taught Sunday School and read the prayers as well as many other activities. This community means a lot to me. You all were there for me when I was going through a tough time and just knowing that this community exists and can be counted on to provide support is deeply moving. I was honored to serve on the Vestry for the past 3 years. I look forward to our ongoing journey together.

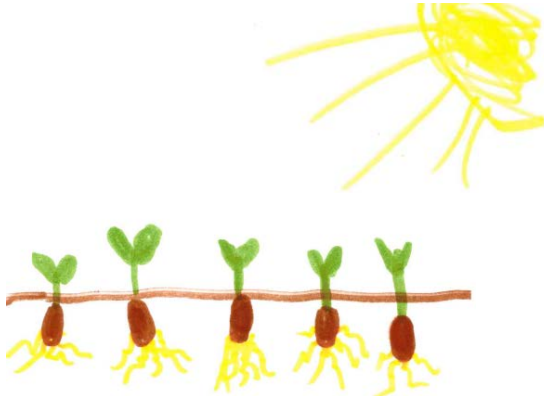

Uli Nollert

Roshni Robert

Well, I'm a gardener and otherwise outdoor enthusiast. I find my place in the order of things in a garden, or in nature. My inflated sense of self returns to its miniscule reality when surrounded by the bigness of sky and earth and trees. When things are coming up and growing and decaying, I have a sense of order and it helps me carry the weight of everything else. Being outdoors is where God comes to hold my hand most often.

I have a special relationship with our church garden in addition to this, as I've been slowly chipping away at weeds and overgrowth there for the past few years. We've added some perennials and the Sunday school kids planted seeds for summer flowers. I love that it is open to the public and that its' doors are never closed. I look forward to warmer weather to carry on working in it!

Julia Ayala Harris | President of the House of Deputies

I'm packing up to head home after an incredibly meaningful week in Tanzania on pilgrimage with Episcopal Relief & Development. Over the course of the week, we visited several of Episcopal Relief & Development partners in Dodoma who are doing impactful work supporting women's empowerment programs, food security projects, and economic opportunities for the community.

It was illuminating to see first-hand how these programs empower people and their families. The people we met were so welcoming and proud to share their stories with us. I was particularly inspired by the women entrepreneurs we visited who have used microloans to grow their small businesses.

The most poignant part of the trip was visiting the Anglican Cathedral in Zanzibar, built on the site of the old slave market. As we learned about the history and walked the grounds, I felt weighed down by the suffering that occurred there and the deep wounds of slavery as well as the resilience of human dignity. I come away with a greater sense of purpose in continuing the work of healing and reconciliation.

I'm still processing everything I saw and felt on this trip. It deepened my understanding of global injustice as well as my resolve to keep fighting for human rights and equality.

What wonderful news for the church!

The Rev'd Deacon Caitlin Frazier, former (and much beloved) parishioner and seminarian at the Virginia Theological Seminary in Alexandria, Virginia, was ordained to the transitional diaconate at the Washington National Cathedral. Caitlin, daughter of Jim and Trish Frazier, late beloved St. John's parishioners, was ordained to the Sacred Order of Deacons on January 13th 2024 at 10:00am. The event was live streamed on the Washington National Cathedral's YouTube site. In attendance at this joyous occasion were the Reverend Twila Smith, the Reverend Dwight Helt, Kelsey Kemp, Jeff Frazier, Robert Terry, and Reynolds Whalen.

Greetings from the Reverend Deacon Caitlin Frazier

It was the joy of a lifetime to gather with friends and family from across my life, both in person and virtually, to be ordained a deacon on Saturday at Washington National Cathedral. I followed the St. John's banner in the procession, carried by Robert Terry. Former St. John's rector Fr. Dwight Helt was one of people who presented me for ordination. Former St. John's members Reynolds Whalen and Rev. Twila Smith were also in attendance. I felt the presence of the Holy Spirit as well as my parents, Jim and Trish Frazier. I am grateful for all of the love and support I've received from St. John's over the years. In the coming months, I hope to be able to visit you all and show off my new clergy collar!

More Good News About Another St. John's Parishioner!

The Norman Rotary Club honored parishioner Dr. Bill McCurdy, by naming him a Paul Harris Fellow, in appreciation for his service in the medical community helping patients, and also helping employees, and their pursuit of medical related degrees.

He was also honored for his exemplary public service in Purcell when at the dedication Medical Clinic; they surprised Bill with a huge painting of him and his cousin and surgery partner, Rick McCurdy, in the entrance, to honor over 100 years of Dr. McCurdys taking care of the community of Purcell.

What a birthday week—this was followed with a birthday dinner with friends at Legends Restaurant and his birthday blessing at St. John's Sunday.

PRAYERS OF THE PEOPLE, FOR THE HOLY LAND

Karen Armstrong, JERUSALEM: ONE CITY, THREE FAITHS (Random House, Ballantine Books, 2005). Available in audible (narrated by author & one other), e-book, paperback, & hardcover formats: new @$15- 32, used from $2.20. Review by Susan Laird:

Amid our prayers for Presiding Bishop Curry, lately facing serious medical challenges, he has spoken out about the holy land's ongoing tragedy: "The violence is horrific, and the geopolitics are complex, but my call to love is simple: Stop the killing. Stop all of it. Stop it today.... Every human child of God —Palestinian and Israeli—deserves safety and security. Staying quiet in this moment would be a stain upon our souls and would deepen our complicity." (ENS, 11/7/23).

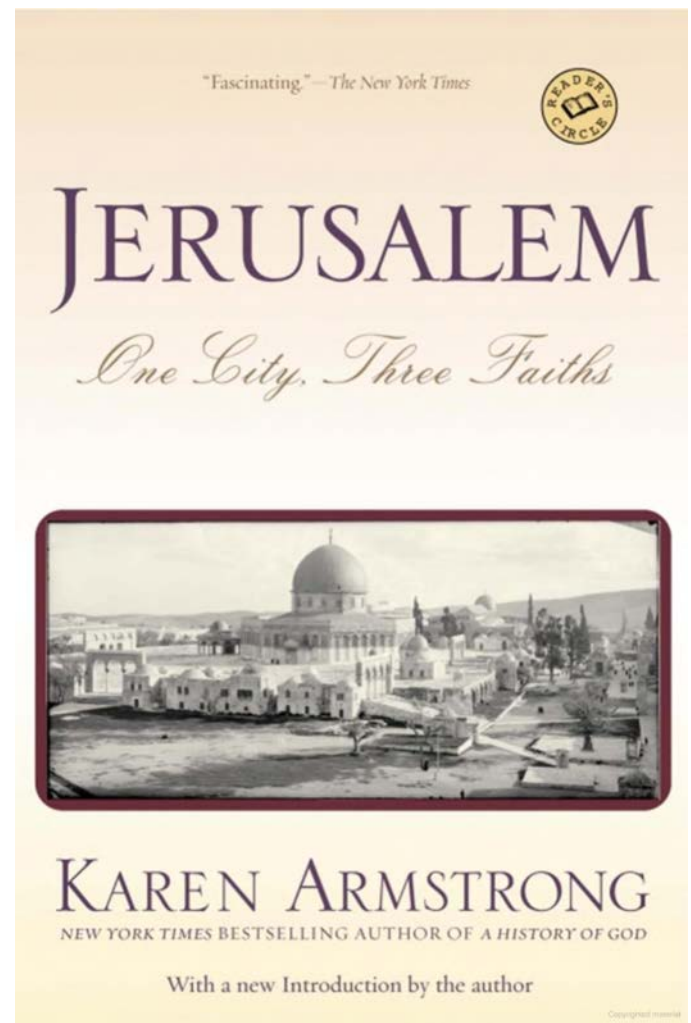

Fascinating and monumental, Karen Armstrong's Jerusalem may inspire Episcopalians who feel overwhelmed by the holy land's violently deepening darkness. This book helps probe cultural roots of emotional intensity that recent atrocities are arousing. First published in 1997 and available in diverse languages, this mythic and religious history of the holy city begins in amazing detail a couple millennia before the Common Era and does not extend beyond 20th century. Therefore, it is not a commentary on this season's unholy devastation of the holy land, but still is relevant to it. Giving a very long view of the holy city's "explosive history...and the atrocities that have been committed in its name," Jerusalem does debunk militant claims made on all sides about alleged competing "firsts" that the news feed is delivering as somehow (fallaciously) foundational to current political deliberations. However, it also bears witness to the seldom-remarked hopeful fact that Jews, Christians, and Muslims did live together in Jerusalem in ways that demonstrated "Peaceful coexistence in the Holy City is not an impossible dream."

Armstrong abstains from religious favoritism. A former Roman Catholic nun, she is an Oxford-educated literary-history scholar who has become a leading prolific public intellectual researching comparative religion, a member of the Jesus Seminar, and founder of the global interfaith Charter for Compassion. She explains that "the importance of practical charity and social justice" was "crucial to the cult of Jerusalem from the very first." Recognizing Jerusalem as "the symbolic heart of the conflict that now threatens the whole world," she observes that the city's holiness has depended upon its compassion for the weak and vulnerable, a moral imperative too often valued less than the city's purity or sanctity. Peace will require imagination, commitment, sacrifices, compromises. Myself now just a few hours into the audible version, which totals 22 hours, I invite you, Beloved Readers, to join me as spiritual companions on the self-educating journey Armstrong's Jerusalem offers amid our anguish about current events there. Can this thought-provoking history inspire new devotion to our own Baptismal Covenant promise to "strive for justice and peace among all people, and respect the dignity of every human being"?

January Vestry Meeting Highlights

- Three candidates for the Music Minister have been interviewed and the Music Minister Search Committee is in the agreement negotiating stage with the number one choice.
- The Reverend Canon Betsy Randall introduced the basics of a rector search process, and this conversation will continue at the February vestry meeting.
- We were reminded that it is not too late to make a financial pledge for 2024 to St. John's.
- Much appreciation was expressed for outgoing vestry members—Roshni Robert, Ulli Nollert, Chuck Palm, Pat Welch, and Holly Cole.

A Time Line Conversation on Sunday Mornings

All are invited to come to the parish hall between the services and participate in parish storytelling in the creation of a time line. There is a long stream of white paper attached to the wall beginning with 1892, the official starting year of the parish. Folks are encouraged to come and add a year and event that happened then. There will be plenty of markers and this will occur between about 9.15ish to 10.15ish. The hope in engaging this exercise is to share our faith stories, increase our community, and listen for how Christ has been a part of growing St. John's Episcopal Church. Feel free to photocopy photos you have and bring them for the timeline!

Forward Day by Day

February is here and Lent will be upon us soon. As part of your Lenten discipline, pick up a Forward Day by Day in the church lobby. February's reflections are written by none other than St. John's own parishioner, Julia Ayala Harris! The Forward Day by Day publication includes the lectionary reading for each day, including saints' days, and a reflection on one of the readings by that month's author. People from all walks of the Episcopal Church contribute their time and talent. If you prefer digital access, go to <https://prayer.forwardmovement.org/home> and click on "Forward Day by Day." Added bonus of the web-based publication--we can hear the writer read his/her/their own reflection on that day's podcast. Enjoy!

Our Hymn Board

In addition to being printed in the service sheet, hymn numbers are posted at the front of the church. Some may find it easier to look at the hymn board for numbers instead of locating the information in the service sheet. Occasionally, a hymn may be changed after printing of the service sheets; if this happens, please follow the hymn board.

Hymnals in each pew are bound in blue. The "S" numbers at the beginning of the book are for "service" or liturgical settings, such as the Gloria, Kyrie, Sanctus. We generally use the same setting of each throughout a liturgical season. When we move from Epiphany to Lent mid-February, we'll also change to different music settings.

KAY CONNOR GREENSHIELDS

90th Birthday Party on Sunday, February 11th, 2024
Northhaven Place, 7535 W. Hefner Road, OKC, 73162.

Deacon Kay Greenshields is a member of St John's. Many of you may not know her as it has been many years since she was an active member. I only have come to know her through Eucharist visits which I have been doing with her for close to 5 years now. In the beginning, I was not aware of Kay's long history with St John's. She was a Deacon here, as well as St Anselms, and was the organist/choirmaster for 16 years. I'm sure there is much more to Kay's history with St John's than I am aware.

Kay will turn 90 in February. I thought it would be nice to celebrate her. There will be a large birthday card to sign in the Parish Hall and if anyone would like to write her a private note I am happy to make sure she gets it. I am organizing a little surprise party for her at her Assisted Living Center on Sunday February 11th at 2:00pm. The center is located west of Rockwell off Hefner Rd in OKC. I understand this is quite a way from Norman so we may not have a large turnout but I think if a few can make it along with our card and special wishes it would truly make her day.
