Fifteenth
Week in Ordinary Time

Good Morning!

We celebrate Saint Kateri Tekakwitha. We read Exodus 1:8-14, 22, Psalm 124, and Matthew 10:34-11:1. What do we have to give? What must we do to follow Jesus? Our readings challenge us to live our faith in a way that may cause division. When we joyfully live our faith and share with others in our joy, others may become jealous, angry, or deceitful. When we continue to give, even a cup of cold water, we will receive a reward greater than any. The children of Israel began to suffer enslavement because of fear and hatred. The new king was threatened by their numbers and continual growth. We start the story of the Exodus. Stay firm in faith, hope, and love. The Lord will provide a path where we can walk with Jesus. Be open to where this path may lead.

Peace,

MostRevKev
