

Monday, October 6, 2025
Twenty-Seventh
Week in Ordinary Time

Good Morning!

We celebrate Saint Bruno and Blessed Marie-Rose Durocher. We read Jonah 1:1-2:1-2, 11, Johan 2:3-5, 8, and Luke 10:25-37. "Go and do likewise." What are your plans for today? Are they God's plan too? Jonah boards a ship with strangers who become neighbors when he confesses who he is and why he is on board. The scholar in the gospel asks Jesus to define, "Who is my neighbor?" Like Jonah, we may try to run from what God is asking of us, but Jesus invites us to be like the Good Samaritan. We will encounter a variety of people. We will be challenged in our words or actions. May we see differently and act accordingly in those encounters, and do as Jesus has taught.

Peace,

MostRevKev

"You will rescue my life from the pit, O Lord."

<http://www.usccb.org>