

Tuesday, November 25, 2025
Thirty-Fourth
Week in Ordinary Time

Good Morning!

We celebrate Saint Catherine of Alexandria. We read Daniel 2:31-45, Daniel 3:57-61, and Luke 21:5-11. Jesus said, "See that you are not deceived." We stop for a moment and reflect on how all things are transitional. The kingdoms in Nebuchadnezzar's dream seem firm, yet ruin will come. Jesus states that the temple adorned with costly stones and votive offerings will be thrown down. Nothing is permanent except God's kingdom. The readings point us to the end times, and yet, we are not to be deceived. We do not know when they will arrive. In the meantime, we are to be at peace with God and ourselves. Sincerity and honesty are important at this time. Difficulties will come along with blessings. For what are we thankful? As we reflect on this past year, we see the good and the mistakes, as we realize God's kingdom stands firm. When our faith, hope, and love stem from this kingdom, we stand with Jesus, and Jesus keeps us positive.

Peace,

MostRevKev

"Give glory and eternal praise to him."

<http://www.usccb.org>