Wednesday of the Fourth Week
in Ordinary Time

Good morning!

We celebrate Saint John Bosco. We read 2 Samuel 24:2, 9-17, Psalm 32, and Mark 6:1-6. When we acknowledge our sinfulness and recognize where we need to change, we can see how our sinfulness has affected others and where we need to pray, "Lord, forgive the wrong I have done." David, recognizing the wrong he has done, pleads with the Lord to spare the people of the infliction he caused. The people of Nazareth cannot accept Jesus for whom he has become as he visits his native place. Sometimes jealousy, doubt, or pettiness get in our way to see in others the gifts they bring. May we continue to examine our behaviors and actions and seek forgiveness from the Lord so our homes, workplaces, communities and our world can be a better place.

Peace,
RevKev

"Lord, forgive the wrong I have done."
