Friday of the Fourth Week of Lent

Good morning!

We read from Wisdom 2:1, 12-22, Psalm 34, and John 7:1-2, 10, 25-30. We may think we are resting comfortably in our Lenten journey. Our readings open up for us a journey where now we face Jesus and have the choice to walk with him further or stay comfortable. Jesus challenges us, as he does the Jews of his time, to see him as he is. Wisdom helps us see the reality of Jesus' character and confronts us as to who we are. Have we grown closer to Jesus? Can we walk as he walked? Do we dare go to the root of who we are and try to comprehend the core of our being? Have our Lenten disciplines of fasting, almsgiving, and prayer, toned down our selfishness and sensuality, united us in the depth of life with others, and brought rest to our souls so we can listen to the hidden counsel of the beloved? Today, we recommit to the journey, gearing up as we prepare for the heavy road ahead.

Peace,

RevKev
