Good Morning!

Today we honor Our Lady of Sorrows. Our readings come from 1 Corinthians 12:12-14, 27-31, Psalm 100 and John 19:25-27 or Luke 2:33-35. Jesus says to John from the cross, "Woman behold your son," To John, Jesus says, "Behold your mother." Jesus has given us his Mother as our mother too. Simeon has blessed Mary, Joseph, and Jesus and awakened Mary to the fact that her heart would be pierced, "so that the thoughts of many hearts may be revealed." We find hope today that we are all part of one body, that of Christ. In this body, there are many parts, and each of plays a part in the whole. Mary, being a good mother, invites all of us, her children, to participate in the work of her Son, Jesus. It is not always easy. like growing up in a large family, but Mary helps us see where we fit and how important we are. Mary understands all human emotions as she journeyed with her son, Jesus, Jesus gives us his mother as a gift to behold. May we see the hope we have as Christians in today's world, where hopelessness is abound. Mary draws us to her Son, Jesus, who can take away our pain and our sins. It is from the cross we celebrated yesterday that not only do we have salvation but we have been gifted with our Mother.

Peace,

RevKev
