Friday of the Twenty-Sixth
Week in Ordinary Time

Good Morning!

We celebrate the Holy Guardian Angels. We read Job 38:1, 12-21, 40:3-5, Psalm 139, and Matthew 18:1-5, 10. When God has so much on his plate and can do so much, Job realizes that God does care. Job has an interesting conversation with God. Job listens, realizes the respect he lacked for God, and remains silent. We are all of little account. Jesus places a child in the midst of the disciples, stating that we must be "childlike." We each have an angel, a guardian angel, and today we celebrate them. Thank your Guardian Angel for their dedication to you, and realize that God always cares for you; Psalm 139 reinforces this! "You are fearfully, wonderfully made."

P.S. I will be traveling for the next ten days. I will see what time I am allowed to send reflections. God bless!

Peace,
MostRevKev
