

Catholic Church

215 South 8th Street
Minneapolis, MN 55402

Tuesday, October 10, 2023
Tuesday of the Twenty-Seventh
Week in Ordinary Time

Good morning!

We read Jonah 3:1-10, Psalm 130, and Luke 10:38-42. When we listen, we become aware of what is going on around us. Scripture invites us to contemplate our actions between contemplation and action and find a healthy balance. Jonah could have slept in and ignored God's call to preach repentance throughout Nineveh. Martha and Mary receive Jesus in their home as Martha works to prepare something for Jesus to eat and Mary sits at his feet. Action and contemplation are important aspects of our lives. Spending time with the Lord and listening to him, enriches the remaining hours of our day. Mary listened to Jesus, Jonah listened to our Lord. Martha was anxious to serve Jesus properly. Jonah calls us to reform our lives and call out prayerfully to the Lord. Jesus speaks to the Mary in all of us to recognize our Martha. We need not be anxious and worried about many things when we ponder on what the Lord can do for us.

Peace,

RevKev

"If you, oh Lord, mark iniquities, who can stand?"

<http://www.bible.usccb.org/>