Wednesday of the Twenty-Eighth Week
in Ordinary Time

Good morning!

We celebrate Saint Luke. We read 2 Timothy 4:10-17, Psalm 145, and Luke 10:1-9. Jesus appointed seventy-two disciples whom he sent ahead of him in pairs to every town and place he intended to visit. Seventy-two were sent and today we have over one billion Catholics in the world. We celebrate Saint Luke who wrote down the stories of Jesus and the early Church. It is not always easy to live our Christian lives but we know that when we feel alone, Paul states, "The Lord stood by me and gave me strength so that through me the proclamation might be completed and all the Gentiles might hear." How are you called to be a laborer in today's world? Can you carry the Good News with you and proclaim it by your words, actions, and attitude? Let us make known the glorious splendor of God's kingdom in all that we do.

Peace,

RevKev

"Your friends make known, O Lord, the glorious splendor of your kingdom."
