Tuesday of the Thirty-Fourth
Week in Ordinary Time

Good morning!

We read Daniel 2:31-45, Daniel 3:57-61, Luke 21:5-11. Things on the earth are temporal. Kingdoms will come and kingdoms will go. All human kingdoms are imperfect. The one kingdom that is eternal awaits us. Trials on earth will be severe and we will pass through many great harvests. As we examine our lives, we must be at peace with God and with ourselves. We need to be compassionate about the human situation, take concern, work towards justice, and care for the poor, the ill, and the abandoned. As we take account of this past year, we are called to be patient and compassionate towards others. This is not always easy as we find where and in whom we can place our trust. We have learned or will learn where not to place our trust as our hope is dashed and our dreams go unfulfilled. This last week of Ordinary Time will lead us to a new Advent and the celebration of the birth of Jesus Christ. In this we find hope.

Peace,

RevKev
