Saturday of the Fourth Week of Lent

Good Morning!

Today we read from Jeremiah 11:18-20, Psalm 7 and John 7:40-53. Who is this man, Jesus? "This is truly a prophet." "This is the Christ." "Never before has anyone spoken like this man." "The Christ will not come from Galilee, will he?" Division existed among the people in the crowd. Jeremiah turns to the Lord asking for vengeance on those plotting to kill him. "Let me witness the vengeance you take on them, for to you I have entrusted my cause!" These days we may ponder "who God is and what God is doing." We grapple with our belief in Jesus Christ. We know the whole picture but do we understand? Have we taken it to heart? Today in your reflection time, ask yourself, "Who is Jesus to me?"

Peace,

RevKev
