

WELCOME

Kevin Plank was a fullback in the early 1990s for the University of Maryland. His friends called him the sweatiest guy on the field, but as a walk-on to the football team, Kevin always felt he had to work harder to prove himself. It seemed he was having to buy new shirts weekly as the cotton ones he wore to practice were being utterly damaged. They would stick, lose their shape, and just didn't hold up. After graduation, Kevin began to work on a shirt that would endure the extreme conditions that not just football players experienced, but others in sports and even in the military. In 1996 Kevin developed a shirt that literally revolutionized the sports and fitness industry. That company? Under Armour—whose mission is make great products and back them with a universal guarantee of performance.

This Monday is Memorial Day. A day that was begun to remember the sacrifice of service men and women who have served in the U.S Armed Services. Men and women who are the product of excellent training, inward perseverance, and mental aptitude who go above and beyond the call of duty—working to ensure freedom not just for Americans, but people around the world.

In truth though, God provides a greater sense of protection through Jesus. As one thinks about Memorial Day, how can we not also think of Christ, Who fought the ultimate battle in a Cosmic War? How can we not remember so great a sacrifice?

Which brings me back to Under Armour...for the believer's under armor must consist of faith, righteousness, the Word of God, and prayer (Eph 6:10-18). We must never leave home without our armor.

»» SERMON SERIES

There is a phenomenon that continues to grow in almost every country of the world: It's called the Coffee Shop. What is it that continually draws people to small, usually crowded places, to purchase over-priced beverages? Is it that people just love giving $5 for a cup of coffee, or is there something more? The coffee shop has become a center of influence in today's society. What can we learn from this Phenomenon? In this new teaching series from Pastor Ben, we will study the Scriptures to see how Jesus introduced an authentic spirituality and Christian experience that people gladly stood in line for. We will make our church a center of influence as we discover what God is brewing to satisfy that deep, down spiritual longing--and He won't even make us stand in line.
