Actual

construction of the first building is progressing very nicely, despite awful weather.

This was as of Friday May 8

It will go pretty fast now, and we're delighted to be this far along. Rains were regular aggravation for months.

This is the south side of Lot # 6 on Serenade Lane. As we speak, walls are being painted.

Lynn is also getting ready to start another, on an order from a buyer to the south and east of this one.

These 2 units, a 2 bedroom on the left, 3 bedroom on the right, are both being held for sale, (see a separate tab); but they will be used as models until that happens. We'll probably need to show to one party at a time, and forego the usual "Open House"
