

Quickly create legally sound policies, agreements, and addenda, stay ahead of changing laws with automatic updates, and navigate location-specific requirements using our comprehensive employment law database and the power of AI.

You need help with employment law compliance. It may be because:

HR teams spend 26% of their time on compliance—piling onto an already full workload.

Your growing clientele means managing compliance across more states than ever.

You're not confident that your current resources give you the reliable, accurate legal information you need.

And the cost of inaction on employment compliance can be devastating.

- Successful employment claims cost employers an average of $160,000 per case.
- The DOL assessed $26 million in wage-related fines against employers in 2023—the highest amount in a decade.
