

Construction coordination as natural as a conversation

Every day, critical project information lives in the heads of onsite teams — and too much of it never gets captured. Not because people don't care, but because the tools demand more time than the shift allows.

A phone call, made or received at the most convenient moment, becomes structured, validated data, routed for review and approval before it's filed directly into Procore or Autodesk. No software. No typing. Works on any phone that can make or receive a call. What used to take hours now takes minutes.

JOBSITE INFORMATION THAT IS:

More complete

AI-guided questions capture consistent, complete information

More timely

In-the-moment capture beats end-of-day or end-of-week recall

More structured

Data organized and routed exactly the way your job is set up

More visible

One consolidated view across every trade, function, and level

PRODUCTS & SERVICES

Production tracking

- Foremen call in or receive a daily scheduled call — under two minutes
- Reports work completed, crew count and hours, equipment, issues, and next-day lookahead
- Routed as a daily digest to superintendents and weekly summary to general superintendents

Turns 30–45 minutes of daily reporting into a two-minute call

Safety

- Inspectors call in observations in real time — no notes, no end-of-day sessions
- Captures location, observation type, hazard category, description, and action taken
- More observations and faster routing means faster closeout and safer jobsites

Captures every field observation in real time, not at a desk

Quality

- QCMs complete daily reports and inspection checklists by voice, at the moment of inspection
- Observations consolidated into a daily QCM summary — complete and audit-ready
- Supports daily QC reports, inspection checklists, and NCR documentation

Files inspection records the moment work is reviewed
