Real-Time T&M Tickets and Change Order Processing, At Your Fingertips

Rhumbix allows customers to transition away from manual T&M tracking and field change management to a fully integrated, end-to-end digital solution. From creating tickets in the field to processing change requests in the office, Rhumbix has you covered with our complete cloud solution.

Rhumbix transforms the process for creating T&M tickets in the field, including pricing and the creation of potential change order documents. The platform includes automated pricing of T&M, routing and approvals between subcontractors and general contractors providing a single source of truth. No chasing approvals, no lost tickets, no paper.

How it Works:

- 01 Foremen digitize T&M tickets from the work face and share completed tickets with management, general contractors and/or owners for review and approval
- 02 T&M tickets are generated from the field in the Rhumbix mobile app, and completed tickets and associated data is immediately accessible from the cloud for management review and action
- 03 The web solution includes a comprehensive platform for T&M ticket review, processing, web-based reporting, and internal and external approvals.
- 04 Rhumbix includes the ability to price T&M tickets to provide real-time visibility of cost and contingency impacts
- 05 Can be integrated into ERP and PM solutions to create a single source of truth for field changes and potential cost exposure.
