		What is an IP address?
		Every device connected to the public Internet is assigned a unique number known as an Internet Protocol
		IP addresses consist of four numbers separated by periods (also called a 'dotted-quad') and look someth 127.0.0.1.
		Since these numbers are usually assigned to internet service providers within region-based blocks, an IP often be used to identify the region or country from which a computer is connecting to the Internet. An IP a sometimes be used to show the user's general location
		Because the numbers may be tedious to deal with, an IP address may also be assigned to a Host name, sometimes easier to remember. Hostnames may be looked up to find IP addresses, and vice-versa. At or issued one IP address to each user. These are called static IP addresses. Because there is a limited num addresses and with increased usage of the internet ISPs now issue IP addresses in a dynamic fashion of IP addresses (Using DHCP). These are referred to as dynamic IP addresses. This also limits the ability o host websites, mail servers, ftp servers, etc. In addition to users connecting to the internet, with virtual host machine can act like multiple machines (with multiple domain names and IP addresses).
