

DALLAS NEWS

Powered by The Dallas Morning News

Follow the chefs to Las Vegas' hottest new restaurants

Michael Hiller, Special Contributor

Bandito Latin Kitchen

You might think you don't want street tacos and elotes in Vegas, but that's because you haven't eaten them at Bandito Latin Kitchen.

Bandito's tacos are the best in town, elevated with cheffy touches like crisp microgreens, caramelized pineapple and smoke-infused charro beans. Former Border Grill general manager Kent Harman and fine dining chef Chris Kight could make a splash with Bandito at any resort on the strip. Their hand-pressed corn tortillas, tacos, enchiladas and small plates have already made this a popular off-strip spot for locals. Now the rest of us are catching on.

READ THE FULL STORY HERE