Note from the Director

Greetings and welcome to a place where the unexpected comes to life at The Salvation Army Joan B. Kroc Theatre! We are delighted to bring our rendition of Beetlejuice Jr. to this magnificent stage. Currently in my 8th year as Kroc Junior Theatre Arts Coordinator, I am continuously amazed by the extraordinary young artists that make this center such a dynamic and vibrant artistic community. And, as a Kroc Junior Theatre alumni myself ('05-'11), I know the community they foster is long lasting.

Putting on this show has been a blast! The 62 young artists, who span ages 8-18, have invested the past three months into creating this strange and unusual story into something truly magical. On behalf of our entire production team, we are so blessed to be surrounded by the dedication and enthusiasm of these actors.

To our amazing audiences: thank you for all your support and encouragement. You are an essential part of this community; whether a parent/guardian, family member, friend, teacher, or a patron of the arts. Each of you has supported your artist in their growth in a special capacity. Them seeing you here tonight brings this creative experience to a perfect conclusion. Thank you truly for being a vital part of the artistic process.

God Bless,

Sean Boyd, Theatre Arts Coordinator
