"It is certainly an honor to be acknowledged as a Work Comp Laude winner along with so many of my talented work comp peers," says Gallagher. "It has been a privilege to serve the industry assisting employers and employees with work comp issues over the years."

A highly sought-after lecturer, presenter, writer and consultant on workers' compensation issues, Gallagher serves as a faculty member of the National Alliance for Insurance Education and Research and a writer for Insurance Thought Leadership and Resource Magazine. Risk & Insurance magazine named Gallagher a 2010 Power Broker for Workers' Compensation and Business Insurance and one of the industry's Women to Watch.

Inspired by her passion for education, Gallagher in 2003 established Insurance Partners Academy (IPA), an educational company designed to provide the Certified Workers Compensation Counselors (CWCC) certification program. Also the author of "States of Confusion," the definitive annually updated white paper on workers' compensation extraterritorial issues, Gallagher serves as an expert witness in workers' compensation audit disputes. Her expertise in classifications, NCCI and independent bureau rules has helped keep numerous disputes from proceeding to trial.
