I have no idea

I have no idea.

When you have no idea about something, you have nothing to answer or offer to a question. Notice the following:

- What time is the next train?
- I have no idea.

move on

Now we'll move on to countries.

Here, the when you move on to something, you change topics. Notice the following:

1. We are done with sales. Let's move on to ads.
2. I am tired of talking about this. Can we move on?

Oh, boy!

Oh, boy! That's impossible.

The phrase 'oh, boy!' is an interjection. We use it show surprise or a feeling of difficulty. Notice the following:

- Guess what? I went shopping.
- Oh, boy! What did you buy?

anyway

Anyway, thanks

We often use the phrase 'anyway' to show we will end the conversation. Notice the following:

- It was such a good movie.
- I agree. Anyway. I have to go, so see you later.
- OK, see you later.
